About the OCD Walk

The One Million Steps for OCD Walk is a national fundraiser and community engagement event for those affected by obsessive compulsive disorder (OCD) and related disorders. Each year, thousands of walkers come together to raise awareness and reduce stigma. Funds raised go towards the critical programs of the IOCDF and its Affiliates that support individuals with lived experience, their loved ones, and mental health professionals.

10 Anniversary of the OCD Walk!
The Walk was inspired by Denis Asselin, who walked 500 miles from Cheyney, PA to Boston, MA (or roughly one million steps) in memory of his son, who lost his life to body dysmorphic disorder (BDD).
